

“(…) ideas are made into techniques, these techniques are applied to problems, practitioners try to make sense of the resulting patterns of promise and trouble, and revised ideas result”

Agre, P. (1997). Computation and human experience. <https://doi.org/10.1017/cbo9780511571169>