

Conceptual macro-foundations are the global context in which the study is situated. Research micro-references are tools that are used in the analysis and with which a closer relationship is formed. The two levels serve as the blueprint and action set of the thesis.